

Appendix 3. Uncertainty maps for the RSF model. Map A (top) represents a map created using the high confidence intervals for the RSF's beta estimates and then converted to a binary map using the same threshold as used when creating the RSF binary map. Map B represents a map created using the low confidence intervals for the RSF's beta estimates, following the same methodology used to create map A.

